ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I would like to thank Associate Professor Neville Meaney for the use of the extensive collection of primary documents which he has gathered from the Public Records Office in London and the US Archives in Washington. Without access to these documents, this thesis would be greatly diminished. I would also like to express my thanks for the enthusiasm which he showed for this project, and the guidance, support and friendship which allowed me to bring it to fruition.

Thanks also to the wonderful staff at the Australian Archives, in particular Barbara Berce, who have always handled my voluminous requests for files with speed, efficiency and courtesy.

Finally, thank you to my father, Robert Kenneth Phelps, who always encouraged me - and supported me financially - during the creation of this thesis, and in return asked for nothing but that I do my best. It is to him that I dedicate this work.
